E-Learning

By McNeil & Co.

McNeil & Co.'s E-Learning Training Platform was launched in 2009. This platform and its training courses were developed by McNeil & Co. associates. The system has matured from a basic online classroom with a handful of course options to a full-fledged mobile friendly Learning Management System with over 200 different courses provided by McNeil & Co. and our partners. We continue to make enhancements to our platform and partner with other organizations to offer more content and more training resources.

The E-Learning Platform currently embraces valuable features such as the following:

- Fast, friendly customer service for questions or technical assistance
- Tutorial classroom courses or phone conference review of the system
- Batch Uploads to get multiple users into the system all at once
- Custom course building options
- Export features for all user history
- Document Drop Box feature allows for Organizations to upload their existing documents, videos, or other training material
- Custom Module building to group our courses with your courses or uploaded material
- E-Learning Dashboard gives you a snapshot of what is happening on the account including messages, assignments, activity and course updates or new courses added
- Organizational risk management tips & featured courses displayed in the classroom
- Group activities allow organizations to take courses together as a group; quizzes can still be taken individually
- Message Center provides a place to post internal messages or push an email out to all users
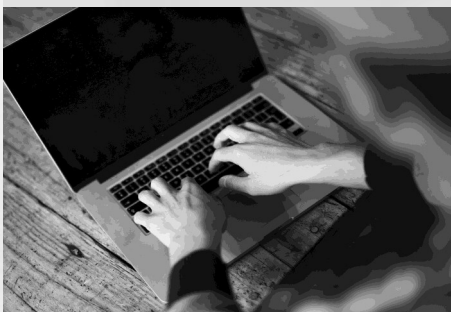

The ability to manage and track training records is an instrumental organization asset. E-Learning has always provided an inclusive spectrum of tools to accomplish both. E-Learning updates include improvements that not only make the system even more user friendly but also create a more desirable system to use allowing organizations to gain access to the high quality training & education that they deserve.
